The State of Alabama
County Court of Shelby County

Whereas, It has been made known to said Court that William MILLER late of said County, lately died intestate, and that the right of granting administration of his estate by the laws of this State, doth pertain to said Court.

To the end therefore that the Goods and Chattels, Rights and Credits which were of said William MILLER of said county (in whose fidelity in this behalf we much confide) full power and authority to administer all and singular the Goods and Chattels, Rights and Credits, which were of the said William MILLER at the time of his death to ask, receive, and recover the same, to pay debts in which said deceased stood bound so far forth as his Goods and Chattels, Rights and

Credits, will extend, according to their rate and the order of the law, the said Mornin MILLER being first duly sworn to make a true inventory of the said Goods and Chattles, Rights and Credits, and to exhibit and return the same into the Clerk's Office of said Court at or before the expiration of Three Calender months from the date hereof--And we hereby require the said Mornin MILLER to render to said Court according to law a just and true accout of her said administratrix.

Witness, Charles R. GIBBS, Esq., Judge of our said Court, at office, this 30th day of September in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and forty one and of American Independence the sixty sixth year.

Issued #30th day of September 1841.

Mr. Ed. L. Harris

As a seventeen year old, Ed. Harris watched a city emerge from the pine forest. First there were tents and then a sawmill town. In 1903, he talked to the Crossett Lumber Company wood superintendent about a job. The job was for swamping, that is clearing the roads for the logging teams, for $1.25 a day. At time that was a fair wage and he was happy with his first job. He knew what to expect in his job for he was no stranger to the forest or this area of south Arkansas. John and Elizabeth Harris had came from Bradley County and he had hunted and fished in the surrounding forest. As a lad he watched as oxen brought equipment to build sawmills from Hamburg. After leaving Locke School, the timber industry was the obvious choice to seek employment.

His next job was a waiter on the boarding train. These train cars were sleeping quarters and dining area for the unmarried men and was moved from camp to camp as the work moved. For $15 a month the workers received room and board (all you could eat). Food was served family style and it kept a waiter busy to keep the men from clearing the table. They fed good , some of the best.

Mr. Harris was promoted from waiter to the surveying gang and then to locomotive fireman, and four years later, 1909, he was promoted to engineer, the same year he met a young lady from Missouri. Lottie Vermillion had came to visit the family of the camp foreman, J. F. Duncan. They were married a year later at the Longview camp and moved into a company house south of Crossett, the usual three rooms.

His next job was foreman of the steel gang. His crews lay rails over the forest for twenty-seven years. It is said he probably laid more miles of track than any other man in Arkansas.

In 1917, he moved to Hickory Grove camp, rent was $3.75 a month and light were sixty-five cents. The camp had YMCA building, built about 1912, which housed the doctors office, dentist office, barber shop, and an auditorium. The manager of the YMCA was Osborne Honeycutte. Doctor Burnham was the dentist. Barbers were Bradley Hill and Lofton McDougall. The school was in a rail car and was moved from camp to camp. The tuition was two dollars a month per student to pay the teacher.

On payday a train made up of four or five cabooses would be filled with families aboard for a trip into Crossett for a shopping trip and made a return trip that night.

The Harris family moved to Chemin A Haut in Morehouse Parish, Louisiana when the Hickory Grove camp closed. Then moved to Crossett when the last of the camps closed.

As the company cease cutting the timber themselves Mr. Harris became a conductor on the mine line railway of the Crossett Lumber Company. Later he became engineer on the switch engines at the saw mill. In an interview in 1950, he planned to retire in 1951 and spend his time fishing and resting.

Mr. Harris had two daughters, Mrs. Luther Estelle and Mrs., Clay Ross, and one son, Alphas Harris.

Edward L Harris was born 28 January 1886 and died 11 January 1971.

Honeycutt-Miller Family Notes

by Arvis E. Logan

Elisha Honeycutt

In my searching of the different census' I came Elisha and John Honeycutt in Cherokee County Alabama 1840. John had an elderly female in his household. I discarded them as sons of Thomas because surely family ties would keep them in proximity to each other. Besides who in their right mind would leave the paradise of Bibb County.

While Eyvonne and I were doing research in Georgia we came across the marriage of William, one of Thomas' sons to Patsy SMITH (Marriage Book A p. 70 October 18, 1814 by Francis STUBBS, JP) and Elisha to Fanny WATLEY in Hancock County (Marriage Book A pp. 86 October 31, 1814 by O. B. EDGE, J. P.). This set me to wondering, was Elisha one of Thomas' sons after all? I took another look at the Cherokee census. The elderly woman in John's household was between 80 and 90 years old. Now as Thomas wasn't in the 1840 Bibb County census, its possible that they went up to Cherokee County, taking their mother with them.

While surfing the Internet one night I picked up a inquiry from a William HINES who was seeking information on the Bibb County HONEYCUTTS of about 1800. I answered that I was pretty knowledgeable of the clan, perhaps I could help him. He returned that he was interested in the HONEYCUTTS that emigrated west to Mississippi then on to Arkansas. Confidently I replied that he must be interested in Alexander HONEYCUTT who was in Ashley County Arkansas in 1850. William suggested that if we exchange information we both might learn something. Well as it turns out he had loads of information on Elisha, but he was undecided who was the father of Elisha, Alexander or Thomas. Analysis of the ages shown on the census' proves that it couldn't be Alexander because he was born in 1808 and Elisha was born between 1810 and 1820. Here is the breakout of the 1840 Cherokee census.

	Males in household						Females in household
	<5	5<10	10<15	15<20	20<30	50<60	<5	10<15	15<20	20<30	80<90
John	1	1	2	1	0	1	0	1	0	3	1
Elisha		0	1	1	1	0	1	0	0	1	0

Most of the following information comes from an interview with William HINES Grandmother Lelia Ernestine (Goodwin) CARTER who was born in 1874. Also from her family Bible. Her mother was Isadora HONEYCUTT, she was born in 1852.

In the fall of 1996 I traveled down the eastern edge of Mississippi in the counties of Lowndes, Kemper, Nuxbee and Lauderdale, also over the Bibb County, Alabama, to verify her story. Where I state varified I did find varification in a courthouse.

We got our first clue of the relation of John and Elisha to the Whatleys in Bibb County Minutes of Orphans Court Ledger 1818-1841. Among the Heirs of William WATLEYS estate is John and Elisha.

In the 1830 Shelby County census I found John on page 157. The breakout of his household is:

Males in Houshold						females in household
<5	5<10	15<20	20<30	40<50		<5	5<10	10<15	40<50
2	1	1	1	1	1		1	1	1

Elisha and Frances Mae (Fanny) were married in Putnam County Georgia 18 October 1814 (verified Marriage Book A page 86). Their children were:

Name	Birth date	State
Adaline	1815	Georgia
Richard Thomas	1821	Alabama
Sebron Jones	1824	Alabama
Rebecca	1825	unknown died young
William Whatley	1828	Alabama
Nancy	1829	Shelby Co. Alabama
Sabrina J.	1831	Shelby Co. Alabama
Henrietta	1836	Cherokee Co. Alabama

From the information William HINES provides Elisha died in Winston County Mississippi in 1847 and Fanny died in 1850 in Ashley County Arkansas. Now comes the MILLER family. William and Mourning MILLER had the following children that are pertinent to our story:

Name	Birth date	State
Frances Washington	1827	Shelby Co. Alabama
James Whatley	1837	Cherokee Co. Alabama
William Jackson	1839	Cherokee Co. Alabama
Aaron	unknown	unknown
Lenna J.	1843	Cherokee Co. Alabama
Nancy C.	1848	Winston Co. Mississippi

There were 12 children but I only gave these to show how the two families more or less moved together, and to show the marriage within the two families. Frances Washington MILLER married Nancy HONEYCUTT, William Jackson MILLER married Adeline HONEYCUTT and Aaron married Henrietta.

Now a mind boggler. Sebron Jones HONEYCUTT was administrator of the estate of Jacob KITCHENS (Estate settlement, Jacob KITCHENS Noxubee Co. deed record book H page 575) and in the settlement we find Sebrons brother Richard Thomas married to Euphama KITCHENS. When I started to verify these things I found Euphama married to Elisha J. HONEYCUTT. But the above settlement says she is married to Richard Thomas HONEYCUTT. I looked in the LDS IGI Microfiche and found on the Mississippi IGI 00761 Euphama married Elisha J. 1 July 1846 in Noxubee Co. Who he belongs to I don't know but evidently he died between 1846 and 1849, because we find her married to Richard Thomas HONEYCUTT in the above estate settlement.

To top that I found Richard married to Elizabeth A. KITCHENS 28 February 1851. (IGI 00761) Then we find her in 1860 Morehouse Parish census. She is head of household.

Household 91 HONEYCUTT

Name	Age	Birth State
HONEYCUTT, E. A.	34	N. C.
I. W.	7f	LA.
I. W.	7f	LA(Twins)
A. J.	5m	LA

So Richard died then between 1855 and 1860.

Message From The Editor

Lately it seems that the cost of everything has risen considerably. Our mailing cost being one of these things . This has put our society in a financial bind . So, instead of raising dues, the board has decided to downsize the quarterly to 8.5 X 5.5 inches with 70 to 80 pages, and to publish twice a year instead of quarterly, this will save on printing and postage. We are publishing these last two quarterlies for 2002-2003 in one cover also to contain cost.

I would to thank everyone who has contributed articles for I could not have done it by myself. Please, continue to send me your articles, family group sheets, ancestor charts, Bible records, and any other genealogical material.

Thanks for your support,

THE SETTLERS OF LOVELY COUNTY AND MILLER COUNTY ARKANSAS TERRITORY 1820-1830

Compiled by Melinda Blanchard Crawford and Don L. Crawford

INTRODUCTION

This gives a brief account of the region beginning in 1819 with a treaty between Spain and the United States. During the 1820s Americans immigrated west in large numbers into the Arkansas Territory in what is today Washington and Crawford counties in Arkansas as well as a large part of northeastern Oklahoma. This region was known as Lovely's Purchase for William L. Lovely, The Cherokee Indian Agent, who in 1816 made an unauthorized purchase from the Osage Indians of several million acres.

The boundaries of the Territory seesawed back and forth between the Indians and the United States until in 1828 the western boundary of Arkansas was fixed and the land west of it was given to the Cherokees for those Indians east of the Mississippi to relocate. At the same time the white settlers were ordered to move east of the boundary of Arkansas.

Ambrose H. Sevier, congressman from Arkansas strongly objected to the treaty, to no avail.

HISTORICAL VIEW: ARTICLES FROM THE ARKANSAS GAZETTE

Through correspondence with Congressman Sevier the Arkansas Gazette kept the settlers informed of the treaties. On May 24, 1828 a law was passed giving each confirmed settler of Lovely County new land in Arkansas for the land they lost. They were 320 acres located on any unoccupied federal land in Arkansas. These were called Donation Rights.

Later the Choctaws were ceded the land in Miller County north of the Red River and the white settlers were ordered to move. Through Congressman Sevier's efforts they received Donation Rights also. Miller County was abolished.

Documents related to the Lovely and Miller County settlers applications for their Donation Certificates are on four rolls of microfilm files that cover several Arkansas Land offices. The affidavits, certificates, deeds, etc. are a rich treasure of genealogical data.

TREATY WITH THE CHOCTAW, 1820

This treaty was for the exchange of land in Mississippi for the land west of Arkansas and south of the Cherokee boundary, three miles south of Little River.

Some interesting provisions were: Where all who live by hunting and will not work may be collected and settled together. Schools were to be established and instruction in the mechanic and ordinary arts of life. A blacksmith was to settle among them. Each warrior moving was given a blanket, kettle, rifle, bullet molds, nippers and ammunition for hunting, etc for one year and corn for the family while traveling to the new country. In order to promote sobriety and industry the agent may seize and confiscate whiskey, except under certain conditions.

TREATY WITH THE CHOCTAW 1825

This second treaty was to settle differences arising from the 1820 Treaty and to adjust other matters.

TREATY WITH THE WESTERN CHEROKEE 1828

The western boundary of Arkansas was defined. Seven million acres were guaranteed to the Cherokees by the U.S. The provisions of the treaty were essentially the same as the Choctaw Treaties. They were given fourteen months to leave where they were and claim land in the territory. The cost of emigration would be paid by the U.S.. A road and tract of land was reserved by the U.S. for the military force at Fort Gibson.

PART II

DEPOSITIONS OF THE SETTLERS

These extractions are from microfilm copies of the "Arkansas Certificate Files from Clarksville, Fayetteville, and Helena Land offices. Not all affidavits and depositions have been transcribed. The authors attempted to gather genealogical information of value.

The settlers were issued a Certificate based on the claim originally filed and recorded with the land offices. The claimant had to prove they were over 21 years of age, and were living in the boundaries ceded to the Indians on or before 24 May 1828. The depositions gave information such as: where their home was located, how much land was cultivated, number of children, if married, single or widowed. It told if they owned cattle, hogs, horses or other livestock. Also it told where they moved to the East of the boundary. They had to have two witnesses.

Hamburg, Ashley County, Arkansas

NEW BATTLEFIELD MARKER-- Edgar Colvin and Lynn Gaines of Pine Bluff and Ed White of Hamburg help to place a new historical marker just north of the Longview bridge over the Saline River on Wednesday, August 20. The marker commemorates a Civil War skirmish at the site on March 29, 1864, in which Union troops captured a Confederate supply train and a pontoon bridge across the river. While the Daughters of the American Revolution had earlier placed a marker at the site recognizing early settlers, the battlefield site had not been marked. A formal dedication ceremony is planned for 10 a.m. on Saturday, September 6.

Ashley County Properties Listed on the National Register of Historic Places

By Dr. Frank Latimer,
Preservation Outreach Coordinator
Arkansas Historic Preservation Program

The National Register of Historic Places was established by the Historic Preservation Act of 1966. Every state was directed to operate a historic preservation office to locate, identify, survey and nominate historic properties to the National Register. General guidelines for listing include requirements that the property be at least 50 years of age and have some architectural or cultural significance. Many different types of properties can be listed, from humble homes to mansions and from courthouses to commercial buildings. Roads, bridges, and even sculpture can be listed.

There are several private residences in Ashley County that are listed on the National Register. Two homes in Portland, the Pugh House at 205 Moon Street, and the Dean House at 216 Moon Street, were designed by Charles L. Thompson, who is considered by many historians and preservationists to be the most notable architect in Arkansas history.

Thompson arrived in Little Rock in 1886, and he presented himself to Benjamin Bartlett, who owned the largest and most prestigious architectural firm in the state at the time. Thompson was looking for a job as an architect, and the fact that he was only 17 years old and had no formal training or schooling in art or design did not appear to stem his enthusiasm. He finally convinced Bartlett to allow him to make some sketches to prove he could design buildings. By the end of the day Thompson had a job. Just two years later he was made a full partner in the firm and within a few more years he bought the company and it became Charles L. Thompson & Associates.

Thompson went on to have a prolific career, designing numerous homes, churches, and commercial and government buildings around the state. He retired in 1938 at the age of 70, but was active in community service until his death in 1959 at the age of 91.

Research into Thompson's designs indicate that he preferred symmetrical plans, with most of his buildings featuring a very balanced appearance. This desire for order apparently carried over into his personal life, as well. It has been reported that Thompson was so obsessed with order that he had a specific suit of clothing for each day, and each meal was also specific and unique. He never had the same breakfast on Monday that he had on Tuesday. Supposedly at one point his adult son was home for a visit and asked his mother to prepare waffles for breakfast. She objected, reminding him that it was Saturday, and waffles were his father's breakfast of choice for Sunday. The son insisted and Mrs. Thompson finally relented on the condition that he would explain the variance in meal routine to his father.

The story goes that Thompson came down the stairs and when he reached the dining room he saw the waffles on the table. Nobody spoke, awaiting his reaction. Without saying a word Thompson turned around and went back upstairs and proceeded to don his Sunday suit.

The Pugh House was built in 1905 and is designed in the American Foursquare style. This style, most commonly found in the 1895-1930 time period, may be seen as a vernacular interpretation of the Prairie style that was associated with the so-called Chicago School of Architects made famous by Frank Lloyd Wright. The Foursquare style is massive, with a sturdy and symmetrical appearance. This sense of symmetry would have likely appealed to Charles L. Thompson and his firm did produce a number of homes in this style. The Foursquare style was an effort to create large interior spaces in a home that could be built on a smaller lot of the type that is typically found within city boundaries.

Among the canons of the Foursquare style is the porch using posts or columns to support a hipped roof. The hipped roof features four sides that meet leaving a ridgeline at the top. The Pugh House is a little unusual in that it utilizes a wrap-around porch, suggestive of a Free Colonial style that was popular at about the same time this house was built. The Ionic columns on the porch are also more elaborate than is typically encountered in this style of home.

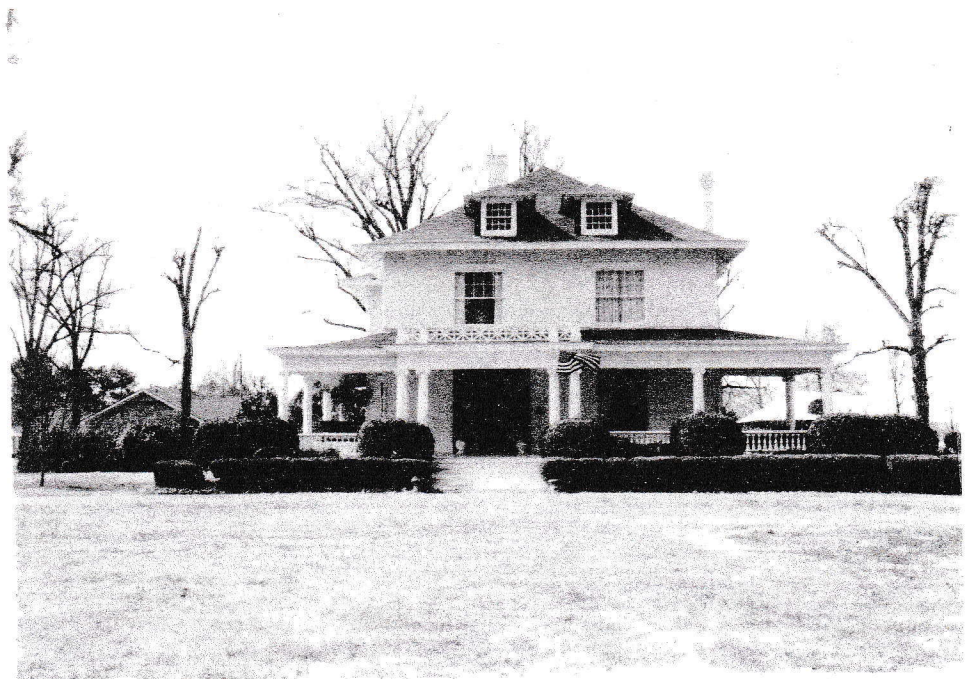

The Foursquare style was intended for a middle-class clientele, and offered large interior space with a minimum of exterior decoration that would raise the cost of the home. Thompson's interpretation of this style created what some may see as the quintessential "Southern home."

The Dean House was built in 1910, and differs from its neighbor in that it offers a greater sense of emphasis on the vertical. This home sets upon brick piers, rising above the ground even as the high, steeply-pitched gabled roof directs the eye farther skyward. This home incorporates a wrap-around porch as did the Pugh House, but the angled walls and high roofline gives this home a closer feel to a Free Colonial, or perhaps is meant to be reminiscent of a traditional Southern Cottage.

Charles L. Thompson was an architect of renown and his designs remain as reminders of an elegant and pastoral period in Arkansas history. The Pugh House and the Dean House are excellent examples of their styles and have been honored by being listed on the National Register of Historic Places.
